Hymn Time:

"O for a Thousand Tongues"
Charles Wesley (1707-1788)

Right after graduating from Oxford University, John and Charles Wesley decided to sail to America. They came to the New World to evangelize the colonists in Georgia and the Indians. The Wesley's soon became disillusioned with the situation and returned to England after only a short time.

As they crossed the Atlantic, John and Charles were very impressed by a group of devout Moravians who seemed to have such spiritual depth and vitality, as well as a heart for lost souls. After returning to London, the Wesley's met with some Moravians in May of 1738. Both brothers had a "heart-warming" experience, realizing that even though they had been zealous in religious activity, neither of them had ever personally known either God's forgiveness or real joy. From that time on, their ministry displayed a new dimension of spiritual power.

This morning's hymn was written by Charles in 1749 on the 11th anniversary of his conversion experience. It was inspired by a chance remark made by a friend who expressed his spiritual joy to Charles in this way: "Oh Brother Charles, the Lord has done so much for my life. Had I a thousand tongues, I would praise Christ Jesus with every one of them!"

Let us make every effort to do the same today.

About the Message:

For the next three weeks we will be studying encounters with Jesus during his final days leading to Easter. How do these encounters impact us? Does our past impact our future? Do our failures mean we are unforgiven? Are we changed because of these encounters. What are our motives and do our plans change because of these encounters. What role do we play in the death and resurrection of Jesus?

The Lord's Prayer:

Our Father who art in heaven, hallowed be thy name.

Thy kingdom come. Thy will be done on earth, as it is in heaven.

Give us this day our daily bread, and forgive us our debts, as we forgive our debtors.

And lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil.

For thine is the kingdom, and the power, and the glory forever. Amen.
