Hymn Time:

"America the Beautiful"

Katherine Lee Bates (1859-1929)

Katherine was a teacher and head of the English department at Wellesley College in Massachusetts. The first draft of "America the Beautiful" was hastily jotted in a notebook in 1893 while Katherine was teaching summer school in Colorado Springs. Later she remembered, "One day some of the teachers and I decided to go on a trip to 14,000 foot Pikes Peak. We hired a prairie wagon. Near the top we had to leave the wagon and go the rest of the way on mules. I was very tired. But when I saw the view, I felt great joy. All the wonder of America seemed displayed there, with the sea-like expanse."

The words to her famous poem first appeared in The Congregationalist, a weekly journal, in 1895. The poem reached a wider audience when it was printed in the Boston Evening Transcript in 1904. There are elementary schools named in her honor in both Wellesley, Massachusetts and Colorado Springs, Colorado.

This national hymn does more than inspire us to praise our great nation. It also encourages us to pray for it. Each stanza is completed with an earnest plea for God's grace, God's healing, and His refining until we as a people achieve true brotherhood, law-abiding control, and nobility.

About the Message:

This is actually the 5th Commandment, "Honor your father and mother." But the first with a promise, if we do this, then God will do that. And it also carries the opposite. That if we fail to "honor", then there will be an equal reaction from God, likely not something we want. Or will it lead to any outcome we want or expect. So what does it mean to "honor". Our parents, our country, the Flag, the Veteran?

The Lord's Prayer:

Our Father who art in heaven, hallowed be thy name.

Thy kingdom come. Thy will be done on earth, as it is in heaven.

Give us this day our daily bread, and forgive us our debts, as we forgive our debtors.

And lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil.

For thine is the kingdom, and the power, and the glory forever. Amen.
